Summertime is when Cotton Electric's tradition of supporting youth programs really shines. The season kicks off with Energy Camp and Cotton was represented by eighth-grade children of members: Toby Denny, Randall of Indiahoma; Devin Mitchell of Comanche; Kimberly Spoonemore of Waurika; and Shalyn Bowles of Geronimo.

Four area high school juniors won an allexpense paid trip to Washington, D.C. Cotton was represented on the 2014 Youth Tour by Shayla Barber of Marlow, Kaitlyn Metcalfe of Walters, and Alexis Matallana and Kristian Cárdenas of Lawton.

Another milestone was the 10-year mark. In a decade, CECF had issued $10,000.

CECF issued 40 grants totaling $98,463 during FY 2014-15. The 2014 Summer Classic golf tournament fielded a record-breaking 30 teams and added some $10,000 to funds available for grants.

Further support in the form of taxes went to area education efforts. More than $2.3 million in gross receipts tax funds were distributed among 31 schools served by Cotton Electric.

Cotton Electric employees bid farewell to three longtime employees: Gary Nichols, minded members that we should learn from Dwight Hawkins and Ronnie Jones. Between history. He cited a perceived natural gas shortthem, they served the cooperative membership Cotton Electric earned three awards in the for 122 years. The year ended on a somber note with the passing of lifelong Cotton Electric member and longtime trustee Marvin Scherler.

Members in Districts 2, 6 and 8 held triennial business meetings. Ken Layn, Tommy Jones and Dewayne High, all members from those districts, were held over as trustees. Nothing is more important than our envi-343 grants in amounts ranging from $100 to ronment and federal policies drove a call to action issued by cooperatives across the country. Cotton Electric members were urged to contact senators and state representatives on the issue of EPA regulations targeting the nation's fuel mix. Proposals to set stringent limits on carbon dioxide emissions threatened the use of coal as a potential fuel source at future power plants. If coal is to be eliminated, legislators were asked to compare the suspected environmental benefit to the certain increase in power bills.

Cotton Electric CEO Warren Langford reage in 1978, which prompted Congress to amend the existing National Energy Act. The resulting amendment prohibiting natural gas as a fuel source for new generating plants did not consider the financial impact. The cost of building new coal plants was passed to ratepayers and Cotton Electric members in the 1980s saw a dramatic increase in power bills. Clearly sure and not scientific fact.

Langford and other co-op leaders cautioned During the course of the year, the co-op's new EPA regulations would narrow options, leaving the power industry vulnerable to more volatile fuel markets. Ultimately, they warned, the result could be very high power bills.

> The members of Cotton Electric Cooperative support workable/scientific solutions that will ensure a clean atmosphere for future generations. We're not sure if these new regulations fit either criteria and we urge further examination.

> The purpose of Cotton Electric Cooperative has not changed. Members want quality electric service at the lowest possible rate. Members want the co-op to give back to the community. These remained our goals throughout 2014.

It was not too much to ask. After all, it is what our members deserve.

Cotton Electric Cooperative SERVICE AREA

Cotton Electric Cooperative provides electric service to some 22,000 meters in eight counties of southwest Oklahoma. Cotton Electric was organized in 1938 to provide electric services to rural areas at a time when other utilities did not consider it economically feasible. Over the course of 77-plus years, the cooperative has steadily grown while continuing to meet the changing needs of its member/consumers.

The member/consumers of Cotton Electric own the cooperative's electric system and have an active voice in business matters. Combined with the many services offered, a local dispatcher is always on duty to assist with any unexpected problems occurring after normal working hours.

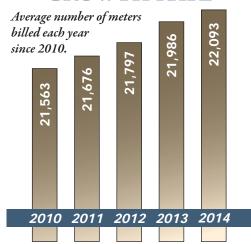

Our headquarters is located at 226 North Broadway in Walters and a branch office at 1101 West Oak in Duncan.

CECF distributes nearly $858,000 raised through Operation Round Up

Cotton Electric members are a generous group. Most of them participate in Operation Round Up, which rounds their power bills up to the nearest dollar each month. The funds collected by Operation Round Up are administered by the Cotton Electric Charitable Foundation (CECF). Since the program began in April 2004, nearly $858,000 has been awarded to area organizations and individuals in need. Recipients are located within the Cotton Electric service territory.

At the 10-year mark in late 2014, CECF had issued 343 grants in an effort to improve the service area.

CECF awarded 40 grants totaling $98,463 during the 2014-15 fiscal year. The foundation's fiscal year begins July 1 and ends June 30.

The seven largest grants awarded - $5,000 - would have broad effects on communities throughout the service area. Schoolchildren in Velma have new playground equipment and the town of Indiahoma has an emergency generator. The police in Medicine Park have new dashboard and body cameras and Rockin' T Cure for Kids and American Red Cross have er for Walters Community Food Pantry. funds to aid for families. The Devol Volunteer the VFD in Sugden has repaired a truck.

A total of $17,300 in CECF grants benefitted volunteer fire departments in the service area. Departments in Oakridge and Randlett also received grants for brush clearing equipment and wildland gear.

"Rural fire protection is an important issue for our members," said Tim McCary, president of the Cotton Electric Cooperative's board of Langford, Cotton Electric Cooperative's CEO trustees and CECF board member.

"Through Operation Round Up, more than $233,600 has been contributed to volunteer a quarterly basis to review applications.

> Six grants were modest, under $1,000, but made a big difference, in education for the very young and not-so-young in the area. Indiahoma schools purchased incentive items and Fiesta in Fuqua had more school supplies to hand out. Head Start students have new books, Big Pasture school library has a reading rug and the Literacy Council in Duncan has bilingual dictionaries.
