Soaking up sun in southwest Oklahoma

Power supplier, Cotton Electric launch 250 kW solar array near Devol

By Karen Kaley

On bright days, we close our eyes and turn our faces up to the warm light or we step into a shady spot and feel immediate loss of that warmth. That simple, common experience is but a tiny representation of the sun's powerful influence on our daily lives.

Solar energy is the most abundant energy resource on earth, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The 173,000 terawatts of solar energy striking the Earth continuously is more than 10,000 times the energy used by the entire planet.

If we could just collect and convert that energy, we could better manage an ever-growing demand for electricity. We don't have all the answers but we're getting closer.

Bright minds have developed ways to convert fractions of solar energy to electricity. In recent years, technology has become more affordable and a solar panel industry has sprung up, complete with high-pressure salesmen. Cotton Electric members considering solar are looking for a reliable source of information before investing.

Look no further. Your cooperative and its power supplier have launched a project to collect solar energy and information and we plan to share the pros and cons with you throughout 2017.

Western Farmers Electric Cooperative (WFEC) provides electric power to Cotton Electric Cooperative and 20 other electric cooperatives in Oklahoma and New Mexico. As a wholesale producer with obligations to its member cooperatives, WFEC leaders have determined technology and cost improvements indicate it is time to explore solar as a power source.

Cotton is one of 11 Oklahoma cooperatives to host a WFEC solar site. A 250 kW site is up and generating on two acres near Devol, a half-mile south of the intersection of U.S. Highway 70 and Oklahoma Highway 36. There are 950 stationary panels at the Cotton site, facing southwest.

The positioning and angle are best to capture direct sunlight from 2 to 8 p.m. particularly from June 20 through September 9. Those times and dates represent the peak period, when demand for electricity is highest in southwest Oklahoma.

That high demand triggers a classic supply-and-demand truism and the cost of energy in the summertime is at its highest. This is significant because our power supplier must be prepared to meet the summertime level of demand at any time throughout the year.

Thus, summertime peaks drive our power supplier's readiness, which drives the bill WFEC sends to members that include Cotton Electric. Paying that bill drives the rate Cotton Electric establishes for its members – you!

How to lower the bill? Lower demand. Asking members to conserve energy during peak periods has some effect. The solar site should have an even greater impact. All power produced at the solar site will be used as it is generated, thus dropping demand.

It will take all of 2017 to collect data that can truly help with decisions about expanding. We hope the information will help Cotton's members, too, particularly those who are unsure about the value of solar panels.

Stay tuned and pull on a sweater to stay warm and reduce demand. Remember, sunny days are ahead.

From the CEO

Serving members well requires balance

Balance: a condition in which different elements are equal or in the correct proportions

This time of year is extremely hectic for all of us as we juggle holiday commitments, school events and work. We're all striving to find the right balance. As a first-year CEO, I can testify that it may be a simple word but it can be a complex goal.

Just as we work toward the goal of finding balance in our personal lives, the Cotton Electric board and employees strive to find the right balance as we invest cooperative resources to improve service for the membership.

Throughout this year, we've made great progress in our vegetation management program. Our vegetation management program is a combination of tree clearing and herbicide application that results in a clean right of way with improved safety and service quality for the membership. This approach has proven to be a great investment.

We also strive for the balance of using technology while still providing the human element that makes Cotton Electric unique.

Members can find account information online or can call our offices to speak to an employee. Payments can be made with the SmartHub app or at our Duncan kiosk. You can also visit our Duncan or Walters offices, where one of our friendly Member Service Representatives will accept your payment in person. The choice is yours.

With the winter season upon us, our operations staff has a constant eye on the weather. Advances in weather technology have been a great help, and ice predictions are increasingly accurate. This has been a great benefit for Cotton Electric as we are able to mobilize crews in advance of the storm.

Reliable contractors and suppliers help us find the right balance of manpower and materials on short notice when these events occur.

These are just a few examples of how we're working to provide the right balance of services while keeping rates affordable. The list could go on and on, much like my daughters' list to Santa!

As our world continues to evolve and change, Cotton Electric will continue to adapt to find the right balance for you, our members.

As always, please contact me with any suggestions or concerns you have about your Cooperative. I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Time is running out on energy efficiency tax credits

Federal energy efficiency tax credits expire Dec. 31, 2016. Coupled with Cotton Electric's rebates for qualifying ground source heat pumps, this can be a significant savings.

Foundation established for more electrification projects

The Oklahoma Association of Electric Cooperatives (OAEC) announces the formation of a 501(c)3, not-for-profit fund, the Oklahoma Energy Trails Foundation.

The Foundation comes as a result of a successful electrification project that took place in Riberalta, Bolivia, in August 2016 when eight Oklahoma co-op volunteers joined eight Missouri volunteers to bring electricity to remote villages in the Amazonian area of Bolivia.

According to the International Energy Agency, 1.2 billion people - or 17 percent of the world population - live without electricity. This initiative seeks to diminish this number. Electrification projects are coordinated by NRECA International, the philanthropic arm of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association based in Arlington, Va.

The OAEC International Committee, composed of trustees from the statewide association board, received an overwhelming response from volunteer linemen interested on this project. The Committee is considering future international electrification projects, which could take place in the form of a stand-alone Oklahoma project in a developing country.

"Rural electric cooperatives are known for bringing power to areas that would not otherwise enjoy electricity," Chris Meyers, OAEC general manager, said. "It's rewarding to know we made a difference in the lives of families who are striving for a better quality of life."

Contributions to the Oklahoma Energy Trails Foundation are tax-deductible and will be used to support electrification projects in developing nations. To give or to learn more, visit <http://tinyurl.com/energytrails>.

2017 rebate standards announced

Cotton Electric has announced standards for the 2017 Rebate Program for the purchase and installation of energy-efficient ground source heat pumps.

Rebate funds are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Once rebate funds have been exhausted, the program will end for the year.

Members should note that the rebates are offered only for ground source heat pumps (GSHP). A de-superheater is not required but additional rebates are available if one is part of a new GSHP installation.

Minimum standards vary for closed and open loop installations and apply to the full load operation of a GSHP, not the partial load. The amount of rebate is determined by the size of each unit, its Energy Efficiency Rating (EER) and Coefficient of Performance (COP).

Qualifying units can receive a rebate of up to $1,050 per ton installed if the unit meets the minimum specifications, which are 15.9 EER and 3.3 COP for closed loop systems and 18.0 EER and 3.6 COP for open loop.

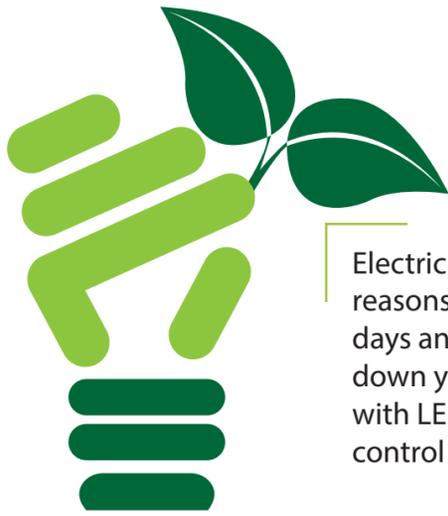

Cotton Electric offers a rebate for members replacing an existing GSHP system with a more efficient GSHP system.

To qualify for a rebate when replacing an existing GSHP system with another GSHP system, the new installation must increase the EER by at least 3.0. The minimum specification for COP is 3.3 for closed loop systems and 3.6 for open loop. Rebates are $375 per ton.

In order to qualify for the program, members will need to provide a copy of their itemized invoice and, from the HVAC contractor or supplier, AHRI certification and Manual J calculation. Verification by Cotton Electric personnel is also required to receive the rebate. The maximum rebate in 2017 will be $5,000 per residence.

For more information about the rebate program, please contact Mike Stephens, Cotton Electric's energy use adviser, at 580-875-3351 or 800-522-3520.

Energy Efficiency Tip of the Month

Electric bills increase during the winter for a variety of reasons – holiday gatherings, house guests, and shorter days and longer nights. Small measures, like turning down your thermostat, replacing incandescent bulbs with LEDs and washing clothes in cold water can help control energy costs.

Departmental Spotlight
Marketing

Cotton Electric's Marketing department consists of Jennifer Kriz, marketing representative, seated left; and Karen Kaley, editor and communication specialist; and, standing, Bryce Hooper, vice president of marketing and subsidiary services; Mike Stephens, energy use advisor; and Shane Bowers, staff assistant.

To market the co-op, we have a long list

By Karen Kaley

As residents of rural southwest Oklahoma go about their daily lives, they may spot the Cotton Electric logo on billboards and ballpark signs, on the front of a cap or the side of a truck. A longtime co-op member might look forward to pulling this very newspaper from a mailbox, while a first-time member might look through a handbook received when arranging for service in a new home.

If a person isn't aware of Cotton Electric through those examples, he or she may have learned about the generosity of the co-op's members through its Charitable Foundation. Or, clicked the Like button under a cutie in a photo contest on the Cotton Electric Facebook page.

Many young people know about Cotton Electric because they saw a hot dog get zapped during a demonstration about electrical safety or were invited to participate in competition for time at a summer camp in western Oklahoma or a trip to Washington, D.C.

Still others have been concerned about energy consumption in a home, at a school or a place of business. Someone from Cotton Electric came out, looked things over and suggested ways to control the consumption.

Oh, and how about that big party once a year, the Annual Meeting? Many are certain to show up in Duncan or Lawton to eat a good meal, hear about the co-op and hope to win a prize drawing.

All of those examples and more are a function of the Marketing department.

"It's a long list," said Bryce Hooper, vice president of marketing and subsidiary services. "By themselves, they all seem like small things, but altogether it is an essential part of communicating and carrying out the cooperative principles."

The Marketing department embodies the principal of education, training and information by reminding members about principles outlining the ability to democratically participate in the co-op's autonomy. Marketing departments from co-ops across the state and nation collaborate in order to share messages of concern for the communities served.

Cotton Electric's Marketing department is small but mighty in the way it reaches out to the membership.

Hooper oversees all Marketing activities and carries responsibility for coordinating external advertising and maintaining relationships with large consumers, or key accounts. He also serves as chief operating officer of Cotton Electric Services, Inc., the cooperative's independent subsidiary.

Mike Stephens serves the co-op's membership as Energy Use Advisor. An excellent energy efficiency resource, Stephens performs energy audits, a free service to help members find ways to control power bills with home or business modifications. He also gives safety demonstrations in schools and coordinates the co-op's rebate program.

Jennifer Kriz manages advertising for The Current, promotes the Co-op Connections program and coordinates youth outreach programs such as Energy Camp, Youth Tour and Leadership Summit. Kriz sees to promotional items, making sure the co-op has plenty of logo-emblazoned calendars, caps, pencils and other goodies to hand out to members.

Karen Kaley is editor of The Current and is involved in the administration aspect of Cotton Electric Charitable Foundation. She works on most of Cotton's messaging, whether in the form of printed materials or as a monitor for the co-op's online presence.

Shane Bowers joined Cotton Electric as Staff Assistant in the spring and has responsibilities in the Administration and Marketing departments. In addition to his primary functions overseeing human resources and benefits, he will play a larger role in the charitable foundation and executing the annual membership meeting.

Summing up, Hooper described the Marketing department as a partnership with the cooperative's members and with fellow employees.

"We let members know what's going on at co-op and in the industry. We help members understand their power bills, help explain why consumption might be high. We want our members to be as efficient as possible. We want to keep them up-to-date on the latest technology.

"We want to be a part of our members' communities. We want those communities to succeed."

Estate Planning Tips for Blended Families

Most of us need to do some type of estate planning, but it's especially important if you are part of a "blended" family. And the best time to start is now – before these plans need to be implemented.

Estate planning can be complex, so you will need help from a qualified legal professional. But here are a few general suggestions that can be suitable for blended families:

Update beneficiary designations – and think about multiple beneficiaries. Update the beneficiary designations on your retirement accounts and insurance policies to reflect the reality of your blended family. These designations can supersede the instructions you provided in your will. So if your will states that your current spouse should inherit your assets, but you had named your former spouse, or a child, as the primary beneficiary of an IRA, then your former spouse or your child – not your present-day spouse – will indeed receive the IRA.

To ensure that "everyone gets something," you could name your current spouse as primary beneficiary and your children from a previous marriage as equal contingent beneficiaries. But the primary beneficiary will receive all the assets and is free to do whatever he or she wants with the money. To enact your wishes, you can name multiple primary beneficiaries and designate the percentage of the asset each beneficiary will receive.

Create a living trust – and consider a professional trustee. A living trust can help you avoid the time-consuming and costly process of probate, while giving you great freedom to determine how, and when, you want your assets distributed. After you pass away, the trust, if structured properly, can provide your surviving spouse with income for life; then, after your spouse dies, your children from an earlier marriage would receive the remainder of the trust.

So far, so good. However, issues can arise if you name your surviving spouse or one of your children as the "successor trustee" who will take charge of the trust upon your passing. Your spouse, acting as successor trustee, could choose to invest only in bonds for income, but if he or she lives another 20 or so years, the value of the investments within the trust will probably have diminished considerably – leaving your children with very little. Conversely, if you name one of your children as trustee, the child could invest strictly in growth-oriented investments, leaving your surviving spouse with greatly reduced income. To be fair to everyone, you may want to engage a professional third-party trustee. This individual, or company, is not a beneficiary of the trust, is not entitled to share in the assets of the trust, and, ideally, should have no "rooting interest" in how proceeds of the trust are distributed.

Consider a prenuptial agreement.

When it's time to settle an estate, a prenuptial agreement can help avoid disputes among members of a blended family. If you and your new spouse have agreed to keep your assets separate so that each of you can pass an inheritance to your own children, you need to spell out that separation in your "prenup," your will, your living trust and any other relevant estate-planning arrangements.

Above all else, share your estate-planning intentions with members of your blended family. You may not be able to satisfy everyone, but through open communications, you can help prevent bad feelings – and unpleasant surprises.

Deadline to apply for youth-gear opportunities is Jan. 20

Cotton Electric Cooperative has a pair of opportunities available for students in the service area.

Area juniors can submit a 600-word essay for a chance to participate in the annual Rural Electric Youth Tour. This year's topic, "The Power of the Cooperative Model," will be the key focus for all submissions. Students may choose to address a member of the future or the past.

The contest features three rounds: Essay submission, interview and oral presentation of the essay. The top four entrants win an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., for a week in June.

Another summer opportunity is available for eighth-graders whose parents are Cotton Electric members. This contest requires a short paragraph about why the entrant would like to attend the 2016 Youth Power Energy Camp from May 30 through June 2 at Canyon Camp in Red Rock Canyon, southeast of Hinton.

Information packets with Youth Tour and Energy Camp contest rules and regulations, entry forms, cooperative information and basic details of the contest have been distributed to area English and Ag teachers and counselors. The registration deadline for entering both contests is Jan. 20, 2017.

For information on any of the contests, contact Jennifer Kriz at 580-875-34277 or by email at jkriz@cottonelectric.com.

Members of the Stephens County 4-H Horse Club recently carried out a project to benefit a group often overlooked during the giving season: teens in foster care. The Horse Club conducted a bake sale in early December and raised more than $300 to purchase items both needed and wanted. Tyler Weaver, Chris White, Makenna Fishgrab, James Weaver, Fallon Warren and Kaci Stonerock delivered the gift-wrapped items to the Stephens County Youth Services office. Madison Jarrett also helped with the project.

CECF announces 4th-quarter grants

Pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters – set enough of them aside on a regular basis, and the coins add up to dollars. That's how Operation Round Up works.

Most Cotton Electric members participate in ORU, in which power bills are rounded up to the nearest dollar. The amount rounded up can be as little as 1 cent and is never more than 99 cents. On average, each participating member contributes about $6 each year.

The funds are pooled and administered by the Cotton Electric Charitable Foundation, a board of directors that meets quarterly to consider grant applications. The board consists of Jennifer Meason, the co-op's CEO; Ronnie Bohot, president of the co-op's board of trustees; and three representatives from the Cotton Electric service area: Carly Douglass, Danny Marlett and Carter Waid.

The board met in December to review eight grant applications. Grants totaling $11,045 will be distributed to four of the applicants. Fourth-quarter grants include:

- Bray-Doyle Academic Booster Club: A $5,000 CECF grant will purchase microscopes for the middle and high school science departments.
- Town of Chattanooga: A $1,500 CECF grant will purchase four security cameras.
- Comanche VFD: A $3,945 CECF grant will add a pump and motor to a brush truck.
- Indianhoma Public School: A $600 CECF grant will add incentives to the Accelerated Reader program.

CECF has awarded or pledged grants totaling $967,452.14 since the foundation was established in 2004.

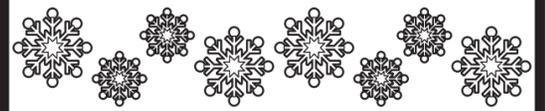

Applications for 2017 first-quarter grants are due by March 8. Downloadable applications are available at CottonElectric.com.

Is Your Water Safe?

Give Your Back a Break...Stop Adding Salt to Your Softener

Minerals in your water form scale deposits that build up inside your pipes, water heater, shower heads, and other water using equipment like cholesterol in your arteries. These deposits significantly decrease the efficiency of your plumbing systems. Drinking water and icemakers are also negatively affected, as are health quality of water and taste. Hard water is not safe for you, your family or your home.

Benefits of a No-Salt Water Conditioning System:

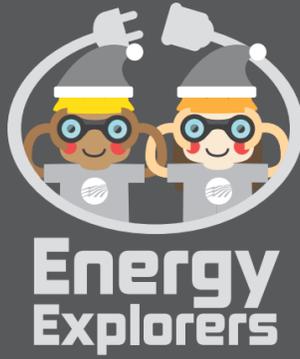

- ▣ Maintain healthy calcium & magnesium levels
- ▣ Extends appliance life by 50% or more
- ▣ No sodium added to water
- ▣ Descales inside of pipes & water heater
- ▣ No waste water vs. up to 10,000 gallons per year with salt softeners
- ▣ Cleaner bodies, clothes, and dishes
- ▣ No environmental discharge of salt or chemicals
- ▣ 25% or more reduced detergent use
- ▣ Reduces iron staining
- ▣ Clothing will last longer
- ▣ Cleaner more refreshing water
- ▣ Improves water heater efficiency and thus lowers energy bills

MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO:
COTTON ELECTRIC CO-OP
226 N. BROADWAY
WALTERS, OK 73572-1226

Understanding Your Electric Bill

Your monthly Cotton Electric bill includes a lot of information. Here is an explanation of some of the numbers and terms.

1. PCA Factor

Cotton Electric Cooperative purchases power from Western Farmers Electric Cooperative (WFEC). The power comes from a blend of fuel sources such as hydro, coal, natural gas, wind and solar. The cost of each source fluctuates each month and Cotton Electric applies a power cost adjustment (PCA) to member bills to reflect the fluctuation. The PCA has been a credit for seven out of the 12 months from January through December 2016.

2. Invoice Number

Bills showing charges for more than one meter will have an invoice number. In addition to simplifying bookkeeping, it saves on the cost of printing and postage for a separate bill for each meter.

3. Bill Code

In most cases, this will be an R for a regular bill.

4. Account Number

This is a unique number assigned to every meter Cotton serves. The number is derived from where the meter is located on the service territory grid. It appears at the top of the bill and below the perforation so both parts will show the number or numbers when they are separated.

5. Legal Description

This is a commonly used locating number. It is not as precise as the Cotton Electric grid numbering system.

6. Description

There may be only one line here for a meter's energy charge, which consists of

Billing cycles tied to fixed dates

Cotton Electric Cooperative uses "Cycle Billing" with billing based on meter readings obtained by the cooperative's automated meter reading system and from meter reader personnel.

Cycle billing means that meter readings and billing occur on specific cycles. Instead of mailing bills to all members on the last day of the month, bills are mailed in two groups. Billing, bank draft and penalty dates are all tied to fixed dates within each month.

CYCLE ONE has black lettering. Bills are mailed the 5TH DAY of each month. Bank drafts are made on the 15th day of the month. Penalties will be assessed on bills paid after the 20th the customer charge, usage charge, PCA and some taxes. Charges for a security light may be listed here. Participants in Operation Round Up can see how much the bill is rounded up to the nearest dollar, an amount that will never be more than 99 cents.

7. Service Dates & Number of Days

The number of days in a billing period will vary, usually because of the number of days in a calendar month.

8. Kiosk Bar Code

This bar code is unique to each member account. It will automatically pull up the account when exposed to the bar code reader of a payment kiosk at the Cotton Electric office at 1101 W. Oak in Duncan. Cash or credit/debit card payments can be made at any time at this outside kiosk.

9. Pay By Phone day of the month.

CYCLE THREE has some red lettering. Bills are mailed the 15TH DAY of each month. Bank drafts are made on the 25th day of the month. Penalties will be assessed on bills paid after the first day of the following month.

The calendar sometimes results in additional days of usage to be included in the meter reading and billing period. Your bill indicates the approximate number of days for which you are being billed.

The date on which payment is due is also indicated. Returning your payment on time will help you avoid unnecessary penalty charges.

Electronic check or credit/debit card payments can be made at any time via this phone number. Listen carefully and follow the prompts.

10. Peak Time

Energy consumption peaks between 3 and 7 p.m. in the summer months. Conserving energy during those hours will help control your power bill.

11. Statement Date

This will be either the 5th or the 15th of the month. Your billing cycle determines which day of the month your statement will be issued.

12. Member Number

This is a second unique number assigned to each membership. An individual member may have many meters that fall under the member number. However, each membership counts as one in matters such as voting at district and annual meetings – one membership, one vote.

13. Cycle

Cycle 1 statements are in the mail on the 5th of each month and payment is delinquent after the 20th. Cycle 3 statements are in the mail on the 15th and payment is delinquent after the first day of the following month.

14. Perforation

When paying by mail, please tear off the bottom portion of your bill and return it with your payment. When paying in person, please bring the entire bill with you

15. Total Due Now

All bills are due upon receipt. It is each member's responsibility to pay his or her power bill in a timely fashion.

16. Delinquent On & Amount Will Be

Cycle 1 bills are considered delinquent after the 20th day of the month; Cycle 3 bills are considered delinquent after the first day of the following month. A 3% late penalty is assessed after the delinquent date.

17. Color

Some bills will have some red text in the bottom portion of the bill. There may be a red screen in the heading across the top of the grid showing the account information and charges. Red indicates a Cycle 3 bill. A bill with only black lettering and grey screens is a Cycle 1 bill.

Outdoor Lighting

Monthly Rate

- (1) Where an approved Outdoor Light is installed on an existing pole; and (a) where the Outdoor Light is installed on the Cooperative's side of the meter, the monthly charge per light shall be $8.81 for 175-Watt Mercury Vapor or 100-Watt High Pressure Sodium and $20.87 for 400-Watt Metal Halide; or (b) where the Outdoor Light is installed on the consumer's side of the meter, the monthly charge per light shall be $2.60 for 175-Watt Mercury Vapor, $3.12 for 100-Watt High Pressure Sodium and $5.98 for 400-Watt Metal Halide.
- (2) Should the Member desire a location other than an existing pole, the cost of installation shall be determined by figuring the total cost of labor, materials installed, plus digging and hauling charges, and will be incurred by the consumer. The wire, pole and material will become the property of the consumer.

Available To:

Available to all Members of the Cooperative for illumination of outdoor areas at any point on the distribution or service lines, subject to the established rules and regulations of the Cooperative.

Vandalism:

In the event the Outdoor Light is damaged by vandalism, such as gun shots, rocks, or any other type of vandalism, the Member shall be responsible for the cost of repairing the Outdoor Light.

Power Cost Adjustment:

Due to fluctuations in the cost of fuel for generating wholesale power, it is impossible to buy electricity at the same cost per kWh each month. The base rates include 6.25 cents per kWh of wholesale power cost. Any variation above or below 6.25 cents per kWh of wholesale power cost must be computed as Power Cost Adjustment. The actual PCA factor is indicated on each power bill and is reported in your monthly Cotton Electric Current. Occasionally, when hydro or other low cost generating power is available, a credit is shown on your bill.

This adjustment shall be based on 70 kWh per month per 175-Watt Mercury Vapor Light, 40 kWh per month per 100-Watt High Pressure Sodium Light or 160 kWh per month per 400-Watt Metal Halide, applicable to Rate (1), Plan (a).

Adjustments:

The listed rates do not include power cost adjustments, gross receipts tax and franchise taxes where applicable.

Cotton Electric is required to collect a 2% state gross receipts tax on all power bills.

Ability first, ahead of challenges

By Karen Kaley

Think Ability First is not just the name of a Stephens County organization serving adults with challenges. It is a mindset, a mission and an encouragement. So, let's try to think ability first: What are the abilities seen during a recent tour of the facilities on West Beech in Duncan?

Most remarkable was the ability of the agency's beneficiaries to lighten the hearts of the people serving them.

As Executive Director Robin Arter led the way through several buildings and areas housing meaningful activities for adults with developmental challenges or disabilities, she was met with a chorus of greetings. She was surrounded by people eager to tell or show whatever was on his or her mind at the moment.

She chuckled when asked about those enthusiastic greetings.

"Yes, I enjoy that," she said, "I get to be a rock star for a few minutes."

Arter's administrative office is not on the same campus as the day care, the furniture workshop, the community garden, Power Print and the furniture store. She makes the trip to the facilities often though, even when it's not needed.

"Sometimes I come here just to walk through because it's fun. When I get bogged down in paperwork and I need a breath of fresh air, this reception gets me re-energized."

Arter said the entire staff is greeted in the same way and all strive to return the treatment.

"We want each person to feel that warmth of greeting, to feel special."

The infectious cheerfulness is cultivated through the activities at the complex. The day care is well-equipped for offering opportunities of creative expression while accommodating special needs. Because adults served may have special medical and physical challenges, the experienced staff is prepared to deal with issues as they may arise.

For example, all staff members are well-trained on how to use the automatic external defibrillator (AED) mounted in high visibility areas toward the back of the day care and Power Print. Both AEDs were purchased with grants from Cotton Electric Charitable Foundation.

At the workshop, clients are able to sand, paint and otherwise refurbish donated household furnishings for resale at the furniture shop. At Power Print, they are quick to demonstrate the process of pulling ink across a screen, sending an item through a dryer and how to fold a T-shirt neatly, so the screen printing is well-displayed.

A new aspect of the facility is the community garden. A hoop house sits behind raised beds in a large area covered in mulch. When the growing season begins, the beds will be leased to anyone interested. Lessors can choose a level of involvement from tending the beds themselves or having the facility's clients use their abilities to raise the produce.

These are just a few ways the folks at Think Ability First are reaching out to the community.

"The possibilities are limitless," Arter said.

"Our focus is on abilities and how can we empower individuals toward more independence. We want to find ways to fulfill their goals, dreams and desires."

The community can help.

Arter said, "We are looking for more jobs and exposure to opportunities. We want to be an active partner, we want to build relationships."

So, think about your ability to connect with Think Ability First. Give Arter a call at 580-252-8000 to talk about it. Ask for a tour. You're in for a treat.

Slide into 2017 feeling healthy and fit

Don't become a victim of the Thanksgiving slide, where you wake up in January 10 pounds heavier, blood sugar out of control, plagued with stomach issues and, in general, feeling bad because you stayed in Thanksgiving-feast mode for four weeks. While the holidays may make it difficult to keep your health in check, there are things you can do with your food and exercise habits during the holiday season that will allow you to enjoy the holidays without spiraling out of control.

Be active as much as possible. During this busy time of year, it may be hard to find time for an intense workout or make it to the gym, so just dedicate at least 30 minutes most days of the week to some type of exercise.

If it is too cold to take a walk outside, find simple workouts online that you can do in your living room as you watch your favorite holiday show. You can break up the time into smaller increments, doing 10 to 15 minutes of exercise two to three times a day. Don't forget exercises that will build strength and tone your muscles.

Kim Bandelier, MPH, RD, LD

Food For THOUGHT

The goal is keeping your fitness level stable during the holidays so you are ready to take on your New Year's resolutions, or just simply start 2017 as fit as possible.

Eating right is a challenge during the holidays because food is in abundance and often in the form of a mouthwatering baked good or holiday candy. While you should enjoy your favorite holiday treats in moderation, it is also important to increase your efforts to eat healthy to offset the splurges.

One strategy is to maximize veggies during the holidays. Broth-based soups, stir fry and roasted winter vegetable salads are great ways to make vegetables the centerpiece during normal meal time. Take vegetable and fruit dishes to holiday parties so you know you will have something healthy to snack on. Pack your lunch and incorporate veggies instead of eating out, saving your dining-out splurges for the many holiday festivities you will attend or host at your own home.

Another strategy is managing the fancy coffee drinks. Anything past a latte or coffee with a little creamer could derail your holiday reasonable-eating plans if enjoyed daily. Treat your fancy coffee drink like a dessert. Ask the barista for lower-calorie options, or try creating your favorite winter drink at home with lower-calorie ingredients.

Because the holidays are very food-focused, feel confident in enjoying the holiday treats you really love. Avoid mindless snacking on foods that you don't really like.

Being mindful of what you are eating and drinking during the holidays, and staying focused on being active will allow you to enjoy your favorite treats and activities and set you up for a healthy 2017.

First-place winners received a monogrammed apron and second- and third-place winners received kitchen items. Cloverbud participants received a certificate and kitchen dish towel.

4-H members submitted recipes in 15 categories and the top eight were chosen for the final competition. Cloverbuds brought one of their favorite recipes to the final competition. All awards were sponsored by Stephens County Farm Bureau Women.
